Blood Poison
THE BANE OF HUMAN LIFE,
Driven Out of the System by the Use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For five years, I was a great sufferer from a most persistent blood disease, none of the various medicines I took being of any help whatever. Hoping that change of climate would benefit me, I went to Cuba, to Florida, and then to Saratoga Springs, where I remained some time drinking the waters. But all was no use. At last, being advised by several friends to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, I began taking it, and very soon favorable results were manifest. To-day I consider myself a perfectly healthy man, with a good appetite and not the least trace of my former complaint. To all my friends, and especially young men like myself, I recommend Ayer's Sarsaparilla, if in need of a perfectly reliable blood-purifier." — JOSE A. ESCOBAR, proprietor Hotel Victoria, Key West, Fla.; residence, 352 W. 16th St., New York.

WHAT THEN?

We sit by the fireside, dear old wife and I,
Thinking and talking of days gone by,
Days so full of pleasure, and days all of pain.
But none of those days we'll see again.
We've lived, wife and I, near threescore years and ten.
The end comes—we'll pass away—what then?

Our children are scattered, some here and some there.
Some know we're living; others do not care.
We're old and feeble and only in the way,
While life's tide flows onward day by day.
When darkness comes, and we pass threescore and ten,
If friends should cast us aside, what then?

—Allen C. Browne in Brooklyn Eagle.

SHELL ANNIE.

Nobody expected General Sherman to come into Atlanta from the south.

Oh, no; in the natural course of events he must have certainly shouldered his way right straight on from the north, and accordingly the grim and grimy, frayed out fragments of Hood's Confederate army wallowed in the stifling trenches all along the vast semicircular line of outworks that faced the valley of the Chattahoochee and commanded the approaches from the Allatoona hills beyond.

But he of the eagle eye was a strategist. He wanted to cut off and coop up the gray jackets in the city, and for that reason he quietly marched the larger part of his army up the western bank of the river eight or ten miles, flung them across the river, and with a mighty swing of that ponderous trip hammer of war he struck them from the south, thus cutting off their lines of supplies by the Georgia railroad. Then followed those terrible days which wound up with the fierce onslaught of July 22, when the hopeless, half starved southern men and the gallant men of the west met in a mighty gladiatorial contest which resulted in the fall of Atlanta.

These are matters for the historian, but what I am going to recount is one of these wild, weird romances with which this terrible conflict was so fraught, and here is the strange story:

"On to the sea!" was the watchword of Sherman's armies, and the sullen and dogged retreat of the Confederates to Jonesboro was the first movement of the defeated and despairing Confederates.

Jonesboro was a little inland town, nestled amid field and forest, interspersed with beautiful undulating hills and grassy valleys green with the hope of the harvest, but little suited as a defensive point for the bruised and battered legions who were recoiling slowly toward the southern sea.

Breastworks had been hastily thrown up flanking the line of the Central railroad, and in the ditches behind them the straggling remnant of obstinate Confederates was intrenched.

It was a gloriously beautiful summer day when the skirmish line of the northern hosts debouched from the works and took up position in front of these breastworks.

Taken by surprise after relying in vain on the ability of the southern troops to check the onflow of the legions of the conquering hosts, the women and children, led by the lame and the halt and the aged men of the country, were fleeing for life, panic stricken and utterly demoralized.

As the sun rose over the swelling ridges the eyes of the soldiers of either army caught the gleam of a little white tent, half hidden in a wood, just a little to the left of the line of attack, and above it fluttered a tiny white flag no bigger than a man's hand.

It was a woman's handkerchief, and all the chivalrous feelings of the American soldier were aroused as the grim veterans caught sight of that little appealing bit of cambric floating there through the uprising mists of war. The order was passed to respect that flag, and when the great guns began their work and shot and shell were hurled blazing and crashing across field and wood from either direction never a gunner trained his piece toward a point near that little white tent.

The battle was fiercely fought, but the combat was of short duration, and as the shadows lengthened eastward the southern troops were seen in full retreat, leaving the field to the triumphant Federals.

As they swept forward a drummer boy, Otto Barden, of a Pennsylvania regiment paused by the little white tent in the wood.

Guards in blue uniform surrounded it, and while the smoke of battle swirled above and around there was a plaintive cry from the tent, and the stalwart surgeon lifted the flap of the little tent and emerged, followed by an old negress, bearing in her arms a tiny, white bundle.

"Please God, marsa, is you gwinter take us off ter de norf?" wailed she, with the big tears coursing down her withered face. "It'll sho' kill Mis' Annie ef yo' does."

"Not a bit of it, old lady, not a bit of it," replied the good natured surgeon, with a smile.

"Hello, Otto, you're the very boy I want. This is your prize, as you are nearest her age, and we are going to detail you to take charge of this wee prisoner and see that the little reb don't escape."

The rough soldiers came crowding around for a peep at the prisoner, and many eyes filled with tears of tenderness as they gazed on the baby that had first seen the light in such grewsome surroundings.

"Ain't it a wonder that she and the mother were not blown to pieces?" said the sergeant.

"It is indeed," replied the corporal. "for look there where a stray shell cut its way through the bushes, clean as a knife."

"Well, boys, she is our prize. Let us christen her, for time is up, and the Johnnies are waiting for us behind some bush heap down the road. Come, Otto, speak up. You shall have the honor of naming the little miss," said the surgeon.

"Call her Shell Annie," said the boy as his mind reverted to his own orphaned days, "because she was saved from that shell."

"Good!" cried the surgeon.

"Shell Annie!" chorused the sergeant and the corporal in a breath.

"Here, give me your canteen, Otto," said the surgeon. "Hold her head up, auntie," and sprinkling a few drops on the tiny head he continued: "Shell Annie, I baptize thee in the name of the Father, Son and Holy Ghost, and may they ever protect thee as has the God of battle today. Now, Otto, the sergeant will remain with a file of men until morning, and you may remain with them, for you look tired and worn out, my boy."

At the word of command the other soldiers took up the line of march, and faint and fainter grew the roar and rumble of the departing legions, rolling on irresistibly to match their blue billows with the blue waves of the distant sea.

* * * * * * *

Twenty years after the furling of the flags the battlefield of Jonesboro was a cornfield, and the rustling rows of the crested corn hid from view the almost obliterated traces of strife. Peace and plenty reigned, and the one armed veteran of the north was hobnobbing with the peg legged veteran of the south as they laughingly recounted the experiences of the war.

Asheville had become a great resort for summer visitors from all sections on account of its quietude, its healthful air and water and its splendid scenic surroundings.

As the train slowed up at the little station a man, apparently blessed with all the activity of youth, but bearing about him that unmistakable air of maturity that indicates intimate knowledge of and rough experience with life, stepped on the platform and strolled up the hill toward the hotel.

The dusky twilight of the dying summer day softened the rugged outlines of the gloomy mountains, and the tinkle of a crystal stream made music in the thickets below.

Suddenly the stranger was startled by a wild cry, and around a turn of the road came a horse at full speed, and in the buggy, swaying to and fro at his heels, there was a flutter of white.

Springing forward and dropping his belongings, the stranger clutched the reins of the frightened animal and arrested his mad career, but the shock was so sudden that the occupant of the buggy was tossed into the bushes by the roadside.

Releasing the horse, which stood trembling with fear and excitement, the stranger gently lifted the prostrate form, and as the crowd from the hotel came rushing to the spot she opened her eyes in a dazed and startled way.

"Are you hurt much?" asked the stranger.

"No, thank you, I was only frightened. I had just got into the buggy and was going for a ride when he became frightened and ran away. Oh, how can I ever thank you?"

"Best by not mentioning it again," said the stranger brusquely, handing her his card as he resigned her to her friends and walked away.

On the following morning the stranger arose late after his fatiguing journey, and when he went down to breakfast beside his plate was a little perfumed note, and he opened it and read it, half amused and half in wonder:

MR. OTTO BARDEN—Permit me to thank you and to convey to you the grateful feelings of my friends for your brave action in rescuing me from my perilous position yesterday. As a partial recognition of your kindness, I wish to extend to you an invitation to enjoy a picnic excursion with us today. It is my birth day. Please do not fail to come. Gratefully,

ANNIE FONTAINE.

On a blank leaf from his notebook Barden wrote a line accepting the invitation and then leisurely finished his breakfast.

The day was perfect, and as the special guest of the heroine of the day he thought he had never felt quite so near at peace with himself and all mankind as he did while lounging on the green grass beneath the shadow of the tall hemlocks at the foot of the mountain with pretty Annie Fontaine.

Chatting in a desultory way, Barden suddenly recalled the day and the drama of 20 years ago.

"Do you know," said he, "that I was one of those Yanks that marched with Sherman to the sea?"

"Indeed? Why, you must have been a very youthful soldier."

"I was a drummer boy, and this day 20 years ago I was in the battle of Jonesboro."

"And so was I," said she, with a saucy smile, "for that was my birthday and the place of my nativity."

"What!" he cried, springing to his feet excitedly. "Then you are, you must be"—

"Shell Annie," she replied.

There are some stories that ought to be concluded before they are begun, but this, which is as true as—yes, truer than—most history, reached its natural conclusion then and there, and the Pennsylvania drummer boy now owns one of the finest fruit farms around Jonesboro, and the mistress of that southern home is Shell Annie.—Atlanta Journal.

A "Saving" Dog.

About 1,400 anecdotes have been published under the above title, in which dogs have figured in preserving human life. We once had a dog noted for saving things, but there wasn't a life among them.

He kept the things he saved under the kitchen dresser, and his hiding place wasn't discovered for a long time—not indeed until it became necessary to tear up the kitchen floor to find a good place to deposit some chloride of lime during a cholera season; then we found what had been "saved by a dog."

There were a couple of kittens, a cat, two or three rats and a chicken—all stone dead; a large assortment of bones, the remnants of an ottoman, a couple of teaspoons, a canary bird and a nutmeg grater. It is rarely there is so much saved by a dog, for they are generally improvident.—London Tit-Bits.

RELIGION OF JAPAN.

SHINTOISM RESPONSIBLE FOR JAPANESE LIBERALITY.

The National Religion Harmonizes Somewhat With Western Thought—The Spirit of Toleration—Not Regularly Established Until 1868.

A Japanese gentleman not long ago visited a drug store on the Third avenue, in this city, and asked for a postage stamp. The stamp was duly supplied by the head of the drug store, who, wishing to be pleasant and agreeable to the foreigner, said, "Well, sir, which do you like better, America or China?"

The Japanese gentleman indignantly replied: "May I suggest, sir, that it is your business to sell drugs and stamps, and that you should confine yourself to these duties? I am not a Chinaman, but a native of Japan, and it is a mark of your ignorance of geography that you do not know the difference."

Without apologizing for the rudeness of the gentleman of Japan, we venture to remark that western peoples, even the most educated among us, do not seem to carefully distinguish between Japan and China.

The Japanese have always regarded themselves as far in advance in civilization, and there is nothing which offends the native of the island of Japan more than to be taken for a Chinaman.

Very much of the liberal attitude of the people of Japan toward western thought and custom arises from the fact that its national religion is Shintoism.

Most people imagine that Buddhism is the religion of Japan, and consequently the national cult of Shintoism is a religious belief which until the last 30 years had never been heard of in the western world.

For centuries Japan was a terra incognita to the rest of humanity, although its history dates from 660 B. C., when Jimmer Tenno was king, and Shintoism was his creed. Buddhism was not introduced into Japan until 550 of the Christian era, when it came from India by way of Korea.

The term Shinto is of Chinese origin and is expressed by the almost unpronounceable Japanese word of Kami-no-michi, the meaning of both words being "the way of the spirits." The essential principle of Shintoism is a combination of ancestor worship and nature worship, and it would seem that the latter of these elements is largely due to the contact of Japan with the Taoism of China. Shinotism is therefore the veneration of the country's heroes and benefactors of every age, legendary, historical, ancient and modern.

The essential feature of Shintoism is its liberal attitude toward other religious beliefs, and when Buddhism was brought into the country the priests of the ancient belief extended the right hand of fellowship toward its missionaries. But the same liberality has not always been returned by the clergy of Buddhism, and not very long ago one of the great temples at Tokyo was burned by the Buddhists to prevent its falling into the hands of the Shinto priests.

Shintoism has been equally liberal toward modern Protestant missionaries, for before the Church of England edifice at Tokyo, now known as St. Andrew's church, was built the present Shinto government lent one of the Shinto temples for Church of England services. Whenever opposition to Christianity has arisen it has come from the old nobility, who are opposed to all change and are zealous supporters of Buddhism.

Although Shintoism has been the ancient religion of Japan for more than 24 centuries, it had never been declared the "established religion" of Japan until the year 1868, when for reasons wholly political it became the established religion of the country. A grant of $300,000 a year was made for the maintenance of the Shinto temples and shrines, which are said to be somewhere about 100,000 in number.

The Buddhism of Japan had been exceedingly aggressive and had almost subverted the ancient system of Shintoism, but now when a child is born it is taken by its parents either to a Shinto or a Buddhist temple for dedication. Funerals are now conducted by either Shinto or Buddhist priests, as the relatives may prefer.

The first great god of the Shintos is Mingo no Mikoto, the remote ancestor of the priest mikado, who is said to have been descended from the god and goddess of the sun. The mikado is known among the Japanese as Teushi, or the son of heaven, on account of his celestial descent, the title of mikado meaning very much the same as the sublime porte of the Ottomans—namely, "the presence," an expression so common in oriental lands for exalted personages. It is said that when the goddess of the sun made the mikado's remote ancestor (Mingo) sovereign of Japan she delivered to him "the way of the gods" and decreed that his dynasty should be as immovable as the sun and the moon; hence the need for making Shintoism the established religion. She also gave him a mirror as a sacred emblem, saying, "Look upon this mirror as my spirit, keep it in the same house and upon the same floor with yourself, and worship it as if you were worshiping my actual presence." The story is that this sacred mirror is still in the Shinto temple of Naiku, at Yamada, although it has never been seen by a western traveler.

The rites of Shintoism for many years occupied a conspicuous place in the rules of the court of Japan, and there are ten sections of the sacred book known as the "Yengi Shiki" devoted to court ceremonies. It must be understood that, according to Shinto belief, the great incarnate god is the mikado himself, but the gods of Shintoism are numbered by thousands. — Thomas P. Hughes in New York Sun.

The earliest reference to shaving is found in the fourteenth verse of the forty-first chapter of Genesis.

The Compost Heap.

It makes little difference what is the season of the year, the compost heap, which should be found upon every farm, should receive attention; first, because it is the place of deposit of all the refuse of the farm of vegetable nature, and second because the accumulation may be employed for fertilizing purposes. Few farmers who have failed to regard the importance of the compost heap are aware of the amount of material that is allowed to go to waste by being cast aside as useless or of no value. It is the accumulation of small things that aggregate a considerable mass, and so on in the economy of the farm. A mass of leaves blowing about, the weeds and refuse of the garden, sawdust and fine chips that have accumulated about the wood pile, decayed fruits and vegetables, refuse lime left from whitewashing, and a thousand and one things that are seemingly of little or no account when taken single, when mixed together, and, perhaps, with turs from the fence corners and wash from the highway mixed and watered with soapsuds from the washroom, slops from the chamber and dishwater, will, by the powers of decomposition and mixing, become of no little consequence as a fertilizer. Even the dishwater; if one doubts its fertilizing power, let him take some of the soil from the outlet of a sink drain of a year's use and apply it to any crop and note the effect. A cesspool well supplied with absorbent earth, into which only a sink is drained, will form an excellent fertilizer, especially valuable for use in the cultivation of vines.—Ex.

John Jackson, who performed one of the most historic actions of the civil war, recently died at Annapolis in the House of Correction. While the Union fleet was trying to go up the Savannah Jackson swam out to a dangerous torpedo which lay in the canal and removed its cap, rendering it harmless. The Government gave him a medal. Drink was his ruin.

Nine lots of fruit, principally apples from Oregon, though some pears were from San Francisco, were destroyed at the public crematory at Vancouver, B. C., last month. It is claimed the apples were affected with codlin moth and the pears with San Jose scale.

One way in which butter may be kept fresh for several weeks is to put it in a bowl, pack it in tight and invert the bowl in a soup plate, packing butter closely about the edge of the bowl. The soup plate may then be filled with fresh water. If the water is pure and is changed daily the butter will keep sweet for a long time.

The best plaster.—Dampen a piece of flannel with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bind it on over the seat of pain. It is better than any plaster. When the lungs are sore such an application on the chest and another on the back, between the shoulder blades, will often prevent pneumonia. There is nothing so good for a lame back or a pain in the side. A sore throat can nearly always be cured in one night by applying a flannel bandage dampened with pain balm. 50 cent bottles for sale by all dealers.

Onion water applied with a soft brush will keep flies off gilt frames.

Out of 400,000 women eligible in Chicago as voters only 10,378 of them registered, although every effort was made to induce them to register.

The Chicago Dispatch says that a California thief has been sentenced to the penitentiary for life for stealing $5. If he had stolen a railroad he probably would have been sentenced to Congress.

To make Florida water take two drams each of oil of lavender, bergamot and lemon, one dram each of tumeric and oil of neroli, thirty drops of oil of palm and ten drops of oil of rose; mix these ingredients well with two pints of deodorized alcohol. It will be ready for use in two or three days after mixing.

Mr. W. M. Terry, who has been in the drug business at Elkton, Ky., for the past twelve years, says: "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy gives better satisfaction than any other cough medicine I have ever sold." There is good reason for this. No other will curea cold so quickly; no other is so certain a preventive and cure for croup; no other affords so much relief in cases of whooping cough. Facts About Baldness.

It is estimated that at least fifty men to one woman go bald, which is perhaps to be accounted for by the fact that the regular brushing usually performed by the fair sex before retiring to rest is very beneficial to the hair's growth. The constant wetting of the head, common among men who indulge in a matutinal cold tub, is stated to be the cause of much baldness among men. Apropos of this subject, have you noticed what an apparent epidemic of baldness prevails among chemists? Why is it? Much study, we believe, is not conducive to the luxuriant head of hair. But, then, this particular profession is not the only one where much learning and burning of the midnight oil are necessary!

Medical and law students have both to work hard at their books to pass their various examinations, but their studies do not seem to affect their hair, whereas quite young chemists are to be frequently encountered with heads perfectly innocent of any suspicion of hirsute covering.—New York Mail and Express.

The Donahue round house at Lakeville was completely destroyed by fire one night this week. The property belonged to the San Francisco and North Pacific Railway Company.

Quite a number of election bets were lost and won in this town. The Democrats raked in the coin on Budd while the Republicans won on Congressman and the county ticket.

The weather in Sonoma Valley during the past month has been like that of May and June. The sun shines brightly, the evenings are warm and pleasant, the hills and surrounding valley are enveloped in a mantle of green, the gardens are in bloom and here and there can be seen poppies and other wild flowers budding forth. In other words Sonoma Valley is now in the midst of one of its mild, balmy winters for which it has been justly celebrated in the past. The thermometer has varied the past month between 50 and 85 degrees throughout the day and night.

Charley Hoy, the well-known proprietor of a large Chinese laundry in this place, who left for China a couple of months ago, has been heard from. Hoy, who is fairly educated in the English language, writes that there is great excitement in that country over the war with Japan. He says that the reports of Japanese victories are greatly exaggerated, and that in the end China's 400,000,000 people will swallow up Japan's 40,000,000. Charley Hoy has not yet enlisted to fight under the dragon flag, but will probably do so in the near future. He intends to return to Sonoma at the conclusion of hostilities provided in the interim his head does not adorn the pike of a victorious Jap.

THE ELECTION.

Every County Office Secured by the Republicans

Except that of District Attorney.

Mrs. Martin, Who Made a "Most Lovely" Superintendent, Relegated to Obscurity.

The election in Sonoma county last Tuesday resulted in a sweeping victory for the Republican nominees, all of whom were elected with the exception of Lyman Green, candidate for District Attorney. Their majority will be between 200 and 800.

There were several causes which led to this result, not the least being the billingsgate and slander dished up during the campaign by several over-zealous Democratic papers for the purpose of defeating the Republican nominees, which simply acted as a boomerang and had an opposite effect from that intended.

The result was a great surprise to the Democrats, who had an excellent ticket in the field, but not more so than the Republicans. They confidently counted on the election of at least five of their nominees—that is to say, Tombs for Sheriff, Wines for Clerk, Pool for Auditor, Ellsworth for Treasurer and Seawell for District Attorney, but all went down to defeat with the exception of the latter, and all that saved him was that he has made during the past two years one of the best District Attorney's Sonoma county ever had.

Mrs. Martin, the bolting Republican candidate and the pride of the school marms, was unmercifully slaughtered in Sonoma Township for her perfidity to the party that has done so much for her in the past. In Sonoma precinct she received but 12 votes out of 137 that were cast. In San Luis precinct she received but 23 votes out of a total of 118 cast. She was also defeated by over 10 votes in Glen Ellen and even Agua Caliente, which was conceded to her, went the other way. This result was brought about in a great measure by the fearless course of the INDEX-TRIBUNE in showing the madam up in her true colors. Had this been done by the Republican press of the county she would not have been in the fight at all, because any one who would betray their party would in turn betray the people.

NOTES.

Sonoma gave Somers B. Fulton the largest majority of any precinct in the county. He received three votes for every one cast for his opponent.

The most stubbornly contested fight in Sonoma Township was between the supporters of Fulton and Wines for County Clerk. The result shows that Fulton had far the best workers on his side.

Sonoma Township gave a fine complimentary vote to Prof. A. C. Abshire, the Democratic nominee for School Superintendent, and at the same time sat down on the madam's insane aspirations for a third term.

When the Democrats of Petaluma saw fit to slaughter their regular nominee for School Superintendent in the interest of the female Republican bolter it served them just right when they lost their fight for Treasurer and all the rest of the offices, the madam included. The fact of the matter is that the Petaluma Democrats bit off more than they could chew in this campaign. Vale, Petaluma.

Sonoma again came to the front with a big majority for its favorite, Somers B. Fulton, Republican nominee for County Clerk. This time he received 91 votes against 32 for his opponent.

Geo. Sparks, the popular keeper of the Bonded Warehouse at this place, it is said is seriously contemplating closing up the building and handing the keys over to Grover. Don't do it George. Grass will be mighty short for the Dems from now on.

Budd got thar, but that is very little consolation for the Democrats, considering that everything else was gobbled up by the Republicans in their grand scoop.

Dick Beamer, the newly elected member of the State Board of Equalization, although a Democrat, ran way ahead of his ticket in Sonoma township. This was due to the exertions of his old Yolo county friend, M. F. Mullen, the genial station agent of El Verano.

There was no fights in this town on election day, but the day after Ollie Brown met with a slight accident on the sidewalk in front of Hotz's store on Napa street.

It is mighty hard to find a Republican these times who did not vote his ticket straight. There are plenty of Democrats to be found, however, who claim to have done all the scratching. This is funny, isn't it?

Meat tender and juicy at Weyl's meat market. *

"THE TERRIBLE SWEDE."

Sentenced to One Hundred Days in the County Jail.

Adolf Lindblom, alias "The Terrible Swede," who attacked a number of fellow blockmakers with an, axe on Sunday of last week, plead guilty in Judge Crawford's Court, Santa Rosa, one day last week, to assault with a deadly weapon and was sentenced to pay a fine of one hundred dollars or go to jail for one hundred days. As he had no money to pay the fine he had to accept the latter alternative It is believed by many who know Lindblom that he is a "little off," and that when he will have served his sentence and is again turned loose upon the community somebody will have to "stand from under."

Henry Bates is visiting in the metropolis.

Thos. Monahan of San Francisco was a Sunday visitor to Sonoma.

Mr. Schott of the metropolis visited his son Walter last Sunday.

Wm. Trudgen has commenced to lay the foundation for the new City Jail.

A brand new baby boy arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Revie last Saturday night.

Jas. A. Cowen and family of Bennett Valley visited Sonoma relatives one day this week.

Chas. Ohm of Embarcadero celebrated the election of Sheriff Allen and Clerk Fulton Thursday night.

Mrs. Berges returned to her home in the metropolis last Sunday after a short visit near Sonoma.

Henry Weyl, Sr. and F. Clewe, both prominent merchants of Sonoma, visited the metropolis last Sunday.

Misses Josie and Georgie Mathews of Santa Rosa have been visiting friends in Sonoma Valley the past week.

Dame rumor says that two of Sonoma's most popular young people will be united in marriage the latter part of the present month.

D. Christe, after an absence of some time, showed up on election day to cast one more vote, as he put it, before he died. Mr. Christe is nearly eighty years of age.

The new waistcoat is made with tags, one in front and one in the back to button on the skirt band, for the purpose of being kept down and of holding up the skirt.

Mrs. Otto Muser, accompanied by a lady friend from San Francisco, after a short sojourn on her beautiful farm near this place, returned to the metropolis last Tuesday.

Chester Ruffner, son of our townsman Jas. Ruffner, has sold out his paper in Fowler, Fresno county, and is now employed as a compositor on one of the Fresno papers.

Capt. Stofen of Santa Rosa was in town on election day working for several of the Democratic nominees. The Captain has a host of friends down this way and made his presence felt among the voters.

Hardwood floors, if polished with shellac or varnish, may be first washed with soap and water and then thoroughly rubbed with a wet cloth with oil and turpentine or kerosene and water; this will make them look as well as new. Floors finished by the waxen method of our ancestors may be revived by the use of turpentine.

Attorney Robt. Poppe made a business trip to San Francisco last Wednesday.

The late Mrs. E. Kearney deeded all her property to her children a short time prior to her death.

John Cooper, well-known in this valley, is contemplating matrimony. He is said to have chosen one of El Verano's charming maidens.

There is strong reason to believe that one of our bachelor City Trustees is thinking seriously of taking unto himself a wife. The young lady is one of Sonoma Valley's fairest daughters.

A very striking and beautiful portierre was seen not long ago, made of olive green serge. On this was appliqued a running pattern in darker green velvet. This was outlined with a thread of gilt, and there was a broad band of the same velvet with the same outlining at the bottom of the curtain.

If you have on hand some pretty engravings and cannot frame them in any other way, wet grapevines and bend them in shape, and then gild or varnish them. They will have a pretty rustic look not to be despised.

One of the things you should not forget is to gather up plenty of road dust before the rainy season sets in and put it away in boxes or barrels in a dry place for the coming winter in the dust boxes. If you have never tried it just put some dry dust in a shallow box and place it in the poultry house in front of the south window where the sun can go to it to warm it up and then watch biddie enjoy her dust bath. This is her way of keeping free from vermin, too.

President Cleveland did not register.

Mrs. B. F. Campbell is convalescent after a severe spell of illness.

Poor butter is always a drug on the market and is never wanted at any price, though it may be forced to a sale, but every such sale depreciates the value of all other butter. In these days there is no excuse for making poor butter.

Now is the time to take up china astors and chrysanthemums for winter—the more the better, for I do believe they are the most satisfactory flowers that grow, always covered with blossoms and thriving and enjoying life under any kind of treatment.

To utilize the feathers of ducks, chickens and turkeys generally thrown aside as refuse, trim the plume from the stump, inclose them in a light bag, rub the whole as if washing clothes, and you will secure a perfectly uniform and light down, excellent for quilting coverlets and not a few other purposes.

Society is like pie. There is an upper crust and a lower crust, but the real substance lies between.

All young meats should be well cooked. Veal cutlets are improved by a tomato sauce poured over them.

If the rollers of a wringer are sticky or covered with lint, pass a cloth dampened with kerosene between them.

You can mend the torn pages of your books with tissue paper and white of an egg and not make them unsightly or keep you from reading right through the paper.

Every vice and folly has a train of secret and necessary punishment. If we are lazy we must expect to be poor; if intemperate, to be diseased; if luxurious, to die prematurely.

It is the most momentous question a woman is ever called upon to decide—whether the faults of the man she loves are beyond remedy and will drag her down or whether she is competent to be his earthly redeemer and lift him to her own level.

NOTHING but Royal Baking Powder

Will make the biscuit, cake and pastry so light, sweet, tender, delicious and wholesome.

There are many mixtures offered as a substitute. None of them is the same in composition or effectiveness, or will make such fine food, or is so economical.

There is but one Royal Baking Powder, and there is no substitute for it.

The World's Tribute to Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder

Highest Honors Awarded by the World's Columbian Exposition, Chicago, 1893.

World's Fair Medal and Diploma

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder

The highest award was given on every claim, comprising superiority in leavening power, keeping properties, purity and excellence. This verdict has been given by the best jury ever assembled for such a purpose, backed by the recommendation of the Chief Chemist of the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., who made an elaborate examination and test of all the baking powders. This is pre-eminently the highest authority on such matters in America.

This verdict conclusively settles the question and proves that Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is superior in every way to any other brand.

NOTE.—The Chief Chemist rejected the Alum baking powders, stating to the World's Fair jury that he considered them unwholesome.

SONOMA INDEX - TRIBUNE.

SONOMA, SATURDAY, NOV. 10, 1894.

WHERE TEAK WOOD GROWS.

The Coming of the White Man Meant a Nation's Fall.

In the heart of untrodden jungles, on thick wooded hillsides, leaning over the brinks of precipices, where tropical creepers twist like snakes choking the life out of younger growths, where orchids flaunt aloft and strange vines bloom, there the teak wood grows. Against its corrugated bark tigers and leopards sharpen their claws, and under its thick shade strange beasts rest by day.

That atom of animate destruction, the white ant, has passed it by. Other growths have reared their heads out of the jungle around it, have grown, have lived their day, died and rotted back to the roots which supplied them with life. In comparison man has been a midget, a mote in the sun, hunting his fellow animals with flint headed arrows and stone axes, flitting, passing, gone, but the great oaks have grown, have spread their arms benignantly over the dust of tiny shapes beneath, and planted in dignity have stood as emblems of strength and power in meditations lasting one, two, three, five and six hundred years. They have secreted the units of time in their hearts as a maiden hides the thoughts of her first love. Days have come as thick as the snows that fall on Kunchinjunga or as the waves crowding one another to the shores of the Bengal sea. And then, as if to give color to the superstition of the hill man long since gone with his tribe to the land where shadows fall deeper than those cast by the teak tree in the jungle, out of these emblems of strength has grown a weakness that has overthrown a nation.

The first oak of Burma to be felled by a white man was symbolic of the nation's fall, and when the visitor to Mandalay is shown the king's palace and reads the inscription on one side of a bungalowlike veranda, "King Thebaw sat in this opening with his two queens and the queen mother when he gave himself up to General Prendergast on the 30th day of November, 1885," if he cares to continue the fancy, he will notice that on each side of this opening the oaken carvings are broken and defaced, as if the events which changed a dynasty had leaned upon the teak wood and it had fallen beneath the weight.—Century.

THE CITY OF NIZAM.

Where Turk, Hindoo and Afghan Jostle the Mohammedan and Hadji.

In the densely thronged streets of Nizam the scantily clad negro, with a scarlet "tarboosh" perched on his woolly locks, jostles the dignified Mohammedan, true lord of the soil, in snowy turban and flowing robes; the long haired, eagle featured Afghan strides alongside of the fanatical Hadji, whose green headgear shows that he has accomplished the sacred pilgrimage to distant Mecca, and martial Rajputs dash past on fiery chargers, dispersing a gossiping group of Sidis leaning like ebony statues against the marble basin of the great fountain which faces the Char Minar.

A devout son of the prophet laves his face in the silver spray before spreading out his prayer carpet for the noonday orisons, as the turbaned head of the muezzin appears on the gallery of every minaret, and the cry "La Allah il Allah" rings across the city. A Rohilla chieftain, with a jeweled dagger thrust through a dark blue caftan, swings the heavy blunderbuss described in native parlance as "the tiger's child" and pushes aside a barbaric looking Pathan, with a leather shield, apparently sported as the insignia of full dress, like a sword in a ballroom.

Olive skinned Hindoos glide stealthily through the crowd, as though shrinking from contact with the motley assemblage. Solemn Turks sit cross legged beside their coffee stalls, and keen faced Parsees, with sloping oilskin hats, are engrossed with the arithmetical calculations so successfully mastered by these astute descendants of the ancient Persians, in their modern character of "the Jews of India."

A few Parsee ladies, with silken "saris" of cherry color lilac or apple green, thrown back from white headbands inscribed with sacred texts, drive through the bazaars, but the absence of women from the crowded thoroughfares results from the cloistered seclusion of the "purdah," which imprisons the majority of the fair sex.—All the Year Round.

Who Made This Neat Puzzle?

We should like to know the name of the author of the following puzzle and anagram:

A —— old woman with —— intent
Put on her —— and to market went.
"——," said she, "give me, I pray,
The wherewithal to —— this day."

Each of the blanks is to be filled with a word of four letters, and the same letters occur in each of the five different words. These words are consecutively "vile," "evil," "veil," "Levi" and "live." We repeat that we are curious to learn the name of the author of this ingenious anagram puzzle.—Chicago Record.

Milk.

It is strange that with all the scientific tests applied to milk inspection there is no recognized standard of the purity of milk. Science cannot as yet distinguish the difference between watery milk from a poor cow and good milk adulterated with water. The cheap grades of condensed milk are generally skimmilk, and even the best is not as nutritious as fresh milk.—Pomona (Cal.) Progress.

Clothes and Their Wearer.

It is curious how clothes become stamped with the wearer's personality. Just as shoes and gloves adjust themselves to the wearer, hats take on a something that instinctively reminds one of the wearer. It is curious, but it is so.

In the time of Augustus Rome was entirely surrounded by a high wall which was 20 miles in circumference.

DR. G. C. OSGOOD, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
DR. J. F. KINCHELOE, Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."
H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."
